CITY'S USE OF ELECTRIC CURRENT ON BIG INCREASE

Report Of Council Also Deals With Finances Of Settlement

SHOWS EXPANSION

Shanghai's Power Needs Now Rival Those Of Greatest Centers

Unprecedented sales and profits of the Electrical Department of the Municipal Administration and a statement showing a surplus and a deficit respectively for the Settlement's ordinary and extraordinary budgets are the outstanding features of the Municipal Council's report for 1921 of the activities of the Electricity and Finance Departments. This report which was issued late yesterday is Part III of the general annual report of the Municipal Council.

Capital outlay of the Electricity Department for the year amounted to Tls. 20,771,489 and on plant actually in operation the capital outlay was Tls. 17,654,556. Some indication of the progress and development made in the International Settlement in the past two decades is to be gathered from the fact that the capital of the Electricity Department twenty years ago was Tls. 254,526. The return on capital outlay at the end of 1921 on plant in operation was 10.53 percent, as against 10.34 percent in 1920.

OTHER FIGURES

The gross profit of the department for the year was Tls. 1,863,610 and the net profit after provision for interest on loans and depreciation was Tls. 1,047,808. The estimated net profit was Tls. 1,029,816. From 1916 to the end of 1921 the sum of Tls. 2,170,000 has been turned over to the Council's general funds out of electricity profits. The 1921 profits are to be appropriated as follows:

	Tls.
Contribution to municipal funds	625,000
Equalisation account...	104,800
General reserve	318,500
Balance forward	225
Total ..... Tls.	1,048,525

According to the report the estimated net profit for the current year is Tls. 1,151,818, which would set another new mark.

Indicating how really extensive Shanghai's electrical equipment now has become a comparative table is included in the report showing the output of the five largest municipally owned plants in Great Britain and it may come as a surprise to some to learn that Shanghai in 1921 sold very nearly as much electricity as was sold in the city of Manchester, which has the largest municipal plant in Great Britain. In this connection the report sets forth that Shanghai's Electricity Department now is supplying current to 33,334 premises.

At the end of the year the department's foreign staff numbered 135 and the Chinese staff 2,797, increases over the end of the preceding year of 30 and 590 respectively. In the course of the year the net sales of electricity for all purposes increased from 144,539,632 units in 1920 to 185,364,746 and as follows: Private lighting sales, 10.64 percent; public lighting, 17.07 percent; heating and cooking, 5.79 percent; power, 32.57 percent and traction 6.06 percent.

The report states that expectations regarding the increase of demand for new industrial enterprises in 1921 fell below estimate, but the demand for current from enterprises already in operation exceeded expectations by a notable figure.

SETTLEMENT'S FINANCES

The Settlement's financial summary for 1921 is given as follows:

Ordinary Budget

Income ..... Tls.	5,960,628
Expenditure .... ,,	5,651,240
Surplus carried forward ..... Tls.	309,388

Extraordinary Budget

Expenditure ..... Tls.	6,428,767
Income ..... ,,	6,213,872
Deficit carried forward ..... Tls.	214,895

If You Live In A Flat Here's The Way To Grow Strawberries

ALL you need is about six square feet of porch, or roof, in a spot accessible to sunshine; an old sugar barrel, some rich loam, an auger, a bunch of "everbearing" strawberry plants, and faith. Bore circles of one-inch holes around the barrel, the holes about six inches apart and the circles an equal distance apart, the first circle being about a foot from the bottom. Then put in some loam, stick the roots of a strawberry plant in each hole and cover them up as you work upward. Plant a dozen or so on the top, and soon you will be picking your berries, as this woman does, nearly every day from early Spring until the snow flies.

American Woman's Club Elects Officers For Year; Mrs. Fearn New President

Large Attendance At General Meeting; Announcements Of Sectional Sessions Are Made; Mothers' Department To Meet Today

The annual meeting of the American Woman's Club, held yesterday afternoon at the Carlton Cafe, was largely attended and a marked spirit of enthusiasm and unanimity characterised the session.

The officers elected to carry on the work of the Club for the new year, opening in the fall are as follows:

President, Mrs. J. B. Fearn.

1st Vice-President, Mrs. P. H. Dunbar.

2nd Vice-President, Mrs. Fred Van Buskirk.

Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. L. W. Strawn.

Recording Secretary, Mrs. R. T. Bryan, Jr.

Treasurer, Mrs. Leroy Healey.

Librarian, Mrs. M. C. Guss.

Asst. Librarian, Mrs. J. C. Upson.

Directors, Mesdames Lockwood, Hiltner, Perkins, Lurton.

Membership Committee: for two years, Mesdames Boynton, Sites; for three years, Mesdames Gregory, Gordon Thompson, Landis, Bickel, Edwards.

Courtesies Committee: for one year, Mesdames E R. Cole, G. R. Loehr, A. C. Davis; for two years, Mesdames Lavers, Beckstein; for three years, Mesdames Poate, Frondorf, Adamson, Dickerson, Lobenstine.

Publicity Committee: Misses Douglas, Fitkin, Benedict.

CONSTITUTION REVISED

Other business at the meeting included the election of Mrs. Young J. Allen as an Honorary Member of the Club in recognition of her many years of service. The Amendments to the Constitution recommended by the Committee on Revision of the Constitution were adopted as read. A hearty vote of thanks to the Committee on Revision, Mrs. H. A. Wilbur, chairman, and to the Nomination Committee, Mrs. W. W. Lockwood, chairman, was voted. On hearing from the treasurer that 100 membership dues still remained unpaid it was voted that the names of all members failing to pay their dues within two weeks after notification from the treasurer, said notifications to be sent out at once, should be posted at the next meeting.

Announcements of the various departments were made as follows: For the Social Service Department Mrs. Nichols stated that a meeting for the election of officers would be held on Friday, April 7, at the Carlton Cafe at ten o'clock. Mrs. Walker announced that the Music Department would not present its program on operatic music as scheduled, but would provide the program for the next general meeting of the Club, on April 18 at the Carlton, at four o'clock. Mrs. Lyman urged a full attendance at the Social Department's meeting on Monday, April 10 at the Carlton at ten o'clock to elect officers.

MEETING TODAY

Mrs. Hiltner, for the Mothers' Department reminded those present of the meeting of that department this morning at ten o'clock at the Carlton, the speaker for the day being Miss Bernice Austin of the American School, on the subject "Music for Children." A cordial invitation was extended to all club members and friends.

The Children's Easter Egg-Rolling was announced for April 15 at Jessfield Park. Mrs. Wilbur said that the next meeting of the Literary Department would be held on April 14 at five o'clock at the rooms of the Royal Asiatic Society, papers to be read by Mrs. Mabee on "Mencius and His Writings" and by Mrs. Edwards on "The Conquering State of Tsin."

GREETINGS FROM STATES

Mrs. Richard Swain, a member of the Club since its organisation and recently returned from the States, brought the greetings of sister clubs to this body, saying that the San Diego Club was devoting three months of its program to a study of the Orient and had been particularly interested in China. Mrs. Swain said that if she were asked to mention the predominating feature of the American Woman's Club it would be summed up in the word "optimism," an optimism which felt confident of its ability to meet, study and master the peculiar problems facing it out here in the Orient.

World Looks To Students For Moral Leadership Declares John R. Mott

All Nations Reexamining Foundations, He Says; Sees Only Good In Opposition Of Non-Christians; Tells How Convention Will Benefit China

BY JOSEF W. HALL
Staff Correspondent of the CHINA PRESS.

Peking, April 1.—"Not China alone, but every nation under the sun, is today re-examining her foundations. Every sanction is being questioned every authority doubted," said Dr. John R. Mott, Chairman of the World's Student Christian Federation, in an interview given especially for the people of Shanghai exclusively through the CHINA PRESS.

"This is the moment which every right-thinking and forward-looking man and woman must seize, to mold our world, now plastic as it never has been before in our generation and never will be again, into forms other than those ancient ones which have caused the human race such continuous and unspeakable pain.

"Inhuman competition, excessive nationalism, militarism and the other slave-drivers of mankind must be flouted.

"In the accomplishment of this task I know of no body which has more propensities for effectiveness than the world-wide organisation of students of Christian ideals. The students, in proclaiming idealistic principles, are unhampered by material interests. Their desire for reform and their zeal must spring from unselfish motives. Being still unengaged in the pursuit of power, wealth or honor they cannot be accused of utilitarian motives. Their average of intelligence and information is the highest. They comprise within themselves an overwhelming proportion of the leaders in every line of human activity of the coming decade. Where in the world could you find a more hopeful class of reformers?"

PROOF IN CHINA

"You, in China, have recently experienced an exhibition of what I mean. It is generally conceded that the patriotism and self-disregarding zeal of the student class saved China at a critical time from passing irretrievably under foreign domination. The courageous activity of her students is the best earnest of China's ultimate national salvation which she can offer today."

Asked as to the relation of the Christian Student Movement fostered by the National Y. M. C. A. in the various colleges and universities of China to the Chinese student movement in general, Dr. Mott stated that he had understood that the backbone of the student "uprising" against traitorism in 1919 was the Christian student body. "It is the practice of our national organisation to co-operate with and espouse every movement of a constructively patriotic or humane motive, and this we have done in America and other countries. Nevertheless, we lay emphatic emphasis on the Christian phase of our constitution, believing true Christianism to be the surest pathway to true humanitarianism."

Dr. Mott, now greying, poised, deliberate, and successful, is one of the busiest men in the world just now, while the committee meetings of national leaders which are preceding the big thousand-delegate conference at Tsinghua College, are on at the Wagon Lits Hotel. Yet he never allows himself to be hurried. He is disposed to look upon the advantageous side of obstacles.

OPPOSITION HELPFUL

Questioned as to the hostility to his organisation which has been shown by some teachers and students who have organised themselves into a "Non-Christian Student Federation" and who are bombarding the public with bitterly-worded manifestoes, he said that he considered such a development "all to the good." "If there exists any feeling against us, far better that it shoul come out into the open and proclaim itself. If those who denounce us have any constructive program for the good of humanity they may be surprised, upon comparing it with our own, how nearly we are agreed. If they are destructive and obstructive merely, the world will soon learn that it may look to them for no benefit, and we can afford to ignore their attacks."

Dr. Mott expressed the opinion that an effort would be made upon the part of Chinese leaders at the Conference to get into touch with the men who are giving such unreserved vent to their disapproval, and talk over the difference in viewpoints in a calm manner. As to the objection on the part of these opponents to the loan of the Tsinghua College buildings for a Christian convention, Dr. Mott said that he had no doubt that a Confucian, or Buddhist, or even Atheist organisation of world-wide ramifications, and a constructive program for the betterment of mankind, could obtain an equivalent favor from the College authorities.

Dr. Mott commented upon the wonderful initiative shown by the Chinese Christian students, who, with true Chinese hospitality, had determined that they should be hosts in fact as well as name, to the thousand delegates from other branches of the world organisation. "Of course, some help was necessary in providing for the expenses of such a tremendous delegation," he said, "but the Chinese students raised through personal contribution, and solicitation from their wealthy friends a substantial proportion of the amount required to defray the expenses of their guests."

ELEVENTH CONVENTION

Asked what he conceived would be the effects upon China of the holding for the first time of the World's Convention in this country, Dr. Mott said: "This is our eleventh world-wide convention. Six we have held in six different countries of Europe, two in America, one in Turkey, one in Japan and now one in China. The effect noticeable in other countries has been first, the wonderful training in international outlook given young men and women of the host country through their sitting with their peers of some forty other countries in conference and if there is one thing China needs it is that international outlook! Secondly, the encouragement given the students of the host country through the realisation that they are not alone in their battle for betterment but that theirs is a world-wide movement, and thirdly their increased efficiency through the methods evolved through the comparing of experiences at such a conference. The Chinese students are going to be greatly encouraged," predicted Dr. Mott, "when they hear the stories of hardship and political disruption of the delegates from Poland, Czecho-Slovakia and other central European countries."

Not one of the least of the benefits of the Student Volunteer Movement in China, in Dr. Mott's opinion, is the breaking down of provincialism in the minds of the young men and women of every province who unite in the national organisation. "These young people learn early in life how to make the provinces co-operate," he observed.

Dr. C. T. Wang, now plenipotentiary in charge of the retrocession of Shantung, is nevertheless expected to find time from his important work there to attend the Conference, of which he is vice-Chairman. He is first Vice-Chairman of the World's Student Christian Federation, of which Dr. Mott is the head. Among the one-time leaders of the Chinese Christian Student Association of America who are now prominent in their country's life are: Drs. C. T. Wang, David Z. T. Yui, P. W. Kuo of Nanking Teachers' College, N. Han of the Government Forestry Bureau, and W. C. Chen and Y. S. Tsao of the diplomatic service; the latter now Acting-Minister at London in the absence of Dr. Wellington Koo.

Dr. Mott, Mrs. Mott and a number of prominent leaders of the student organisation expect to visit Shanghai after the close of the convention of 1,000 delegates to begin in Tsinghua on April 4, and run until the 9th.

Two Killed In Big Auto Race In Italy

(Reuter's Service)

Palermo, April 3.—There were 47 competitors in the 13th Targa Florio Motor Race of 432 kilometres in mountainous country which was won by Signor Masetti in a Mercedes car in 6 hours 50 minutes and 50 2-5 seconds. M. Goux in a Ballot car came second, his time being 6 hours 52 minutes and 37 seconds, and Signor Foresti in a Ballot car came in third.

The race was most exciting, Signor Mazzaro, driving a Fiat car and his mechanic were killed, while another driver was seriously injured.

Eskimo Child Has Polar Bear For Pet

HOUSE cats are scarce in the Far North. But Eskimo children must have pets. From the biting cold of vast ice stretches the father of this Northland youngster brought a Polar bear cub. The "call of the wild" has subsided within the fluffy white breast of the Iceland bear. A docile pet he has become, bringing gladness to the heart of youth. The photo was snapped by Lieutenant R. T. Engineers Convening Here Told They Will Play Big Part In New Era In China

Paper Of President Of Association Read At Session Yesterday Says Country Now Is Entering Period Of Vast Growth

What part the engineer is playing in the vast economic development of China in a coming epoch-making era was told in outline in a paper that was read yesterday before the Association of Chinese and American Engineers, now holding its third annual convention. The paper was prepared by Mr. Yeng Te-sung, President of the Association and was presented at yesterday's session in his absence.

According to views advanced in the paper new elements have been brought to the Far East through the recent Washington Conference and China now is entering on a period of vast economic development in which the engineer is to have no small part.

The paper told of the fascination of the profession of engineering in the constantly unfolding new developments it provided. The engineer's work is a constructive work, the paper continued and one constantly changing.

"It may be the harnessing of nature's gigantic powers, the blazing of new trails, the developing of mother earth's resources, the making of a heat-their locality, the bringing of space and time: in one and all, the engineer was present to give his service for the welfare of mankind.

"In my recent travels I have been more than convinced of the potentiality of the engineer. He is anywhere and everywhere, ever ready his pat and always wanted to play his part in industrial and economic life. This is an age of interdependance: in engineering, more especially in more gigantic undertakings, it not only requires knowledge and experience, but also the co-operation and team work of fellow professionals. The three fundamental principles of our association's constitution namely: (1) The advancing of the engineering knowledge and practice; (2) the maintaining of high professional standards; (3) the fostering of a spirit of co-operation and fellowship among engineers, are, certainly well adopted and to the point. These ideals have stood the test of time and found absolutely essential towards success. May we continue to carry out this policy to make the association more of service than ever."

Before the business session the members were taken on a tour of inspection of the various important industrial concerns in Shanghai, including the Riverside Power Plant of the S. M. C., the Houzsung Cotton Mill, and the China General Edison Lamp Factory where they were shown the various processes.

Afterwards they listened to two papers on "Mining Laws," by Mr. A. C. Terril and Dr. V. K. Ting.

HEAR ADDRESSES TODAY

Today's program calls for further visits to local plants, a business session, and two important addresses. The delegates are to assemble at 9:30 for a visit to the Shanghai International Testing House, 10A Hongkong Road, and will then go to the Municipal Sewage Disposal Experiment Station on Kinnear Road. The business session will begin at 2 p.m. following a tiffin which will be held at the Union Club.

"Shanghai Harbor Developments" will be the subject of an address to be given at 2:30 by Mr. H. von Heidenstam, Engineer-in-Chief of the Whangpoo Conservancy Board, and the program calls for an address on "Municipal Developments in Kwangtung Province" by Mr. Tse Tsok-kai. A number of industrial films will be shown following the tea hour and there will be a banquet at the Union Club beginning at 8 p.m.

The Nantungchow trip, originally scheduled to have been begun last night has had to be cancelled and one to Hangchow will be substituted and will be taken tomorrow.

The addresses being delivered before the conference are open to the public.

Japan Aims At Exploitation Of China, Says 'Times'

(Reuter's Service)

London, April 4.—The Times draws a disturbing conclusion from a passage in Japan's new naval policy in which it is stated that every precaution must be taken by extending connections with neighboring regions to assure supplies. It thinks that this indicates an intention of developing her economic relations with China, perhaps for exploiting her in order to compensate for the restrictions imposed by the Washington Conference on the naval expansion of all the Conference participants.

The newspaper considers that increased Japanese pressure upon China would be a negation of the whole spirit of the Washington agreements.

FIRES IN PETROGRAD

Paris, April 3.—A message from Helsinfors reports that a series of fires has broken out at Petrograd, railway stations, bank premises and harbor buildings being involved. A Bolshevik newspaper attributes the fires to incendiarism by Social Revolutionaries.

JAPANESE IN NEUTRAL ZONE ATTACK RED VANGUARDS

Heavy Fighting In Progress Near Spassko

LOSSES HEAVY

Nipponese Halt Advance Toward Vladivostok

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Vladivostok, April 4.—It is reported that heavy fighting is in progress near Spassko between Japanese and Reds. The latter are said to have refused, after entering the neutral zone near Sviagino, to submit to being disarmed. The Reds losses are understood to be heavy.

(Dalta News Agency)

Peking, April 2.—The peoples Revolutionary Army has occupied station Drozdov, nine miles south of station Sviagino. Troops are now half way between Iman and Nikols-Ussuriysk, having covered 97 miles of a total of 180 miles between Iman and Nikolsk-Ussuriysk.

Neutral students locally of the Russian situation were not particularly surprised on receipt of the foregoing telegrams. The Japanese forces so long ago as April, 1920 took complete possession of the district from Vladivostok and Spassko and from Nikolsk Ussurisk to Pogranichnaya, and after several days' battle drove the armed Bolsheviki out of the district, following immediately with an ultimatum forbidding the presence of any armed Red force in the zone, within 30 versts (about 20 miles) of the Ussurisk railway.

The Japanese have never rescinded that order of 1920 so that it was expected that the march of the Far Eastern government forces from Chita over the Amur Line through Habarovsk and southward to Vladivostok would be stopped somewhere in the so-called dead-line or neutral zone between Spassko and Iman, not far to the North.

Local sympathisers with the Chita government campaign last night were bitter against the Japanese government for opposing the progress of the Chita troops, declaring that the Japanese many times had violated their "agreement not to permit armed forces in the railroad zone of the Maritime railways," and quoting the recent arming of the Grodekovo Cossacks and the Kappelist forces from Razdolnoe in the attempt to save Habarovsk from Chita, as a gross violation and cancellation of the 1920 ultimatum.

The fact remains however that the Japanese drove the Reds out of the zone from Vladivostok to Spassko and from Nikolsk to Pogranichnaya in 1920 and that they are still abiding by that ultimatum in opposing the approach of the Chita Bolsheviki into the Maritime provinces.

It will be remembered that the reason given for the ultimatum of 1920 given out by the Japanese which barred the Reds from within 30 versts of the railway in the zone mentioned, was that they could not permit communism to approach the seaboard, fearing that Bolshevism might be introduced into Japan.

U. S. Coal Strike To Cost Many Millions

(Reuter's Service)

New York, April 2.—It is estimated that the daily loss resulting from the strike will be in the bituminous coal 1,200,000 tons and in wages in connection therewith $2,000,000. In the production of anthracite coal the daily loss will be 300,000 tons, and in wages in connection therewith $800,000.

$10,000,000 CO. ORGANISED FOR SHANTUNG MINES

Premiers And Tuchuns Are Among Promoters Of New Enterprise

A ten million dollar company, to be known as the Lu Tah Company, for the development of the three mines at Tsechuan, Fangtse and Chinlingchen, Shantung, has been promoted by Shantung officials, including Generals Chin Yun-peng, Wang Chan-yuan, Tien Chun-yu, Chang Huai-chi, Ho Feng-lin, Pan Chu-yin, Ma Lung-piao and Ho Chung-lien and Mr. Lu Hai-kwei, Mr. Chao Erh-shen and others. Half of the amount of capital has already been subscribed by the promoters, it is announced.

The Shantung Agreement signed at Washington provided that the mines of Tsechuan, Fangtse and Chinlingchen, for which the mining rights were formally granted by China to Germany, "shall be handed to a company to be formed by a special charter of the Chinese government, in which the Japanese capital shall not exceed that of the Chinese. The mode and terms of such arrangement shall be determined by the Chinese and Japanese commissions, which are to be appointed for that purpose and which shall meet immediately upon the coming into force of these presents."

The organisation of the company has been sanctioned by the Central Government and the first meeting of organisation, according to the announcement, "shall be called no later than the end of June, 1922." Of the $5,000,000 to be subscribed by the public, shares with a par value of $50 each will be issued. The first 25 percent of the capital is to be paid into recognised banks before the end of May.

The Shanghai bankers collecting such subscription are the Bank of China, the Salt Bank and the Chin Chen Bank. The address of the new company is 6 Sheng Mow Lee, British Settlement, Tientsin. The chairman of the promoting committee is Mr. Yu Yu-keng.

There Are Tea Pots And Tea Pots And Some Are Peculiar

Even a lodging house keeper, eagle-eyed and incredulous as such gentry are reputed to be, might have been pardoned this lapse—if there hadn't been other lapses to answer for.

The lodging house keeper in question rules over an establishment at 158 Kiukiang Road, the said establishment being one picked out by the police for inspection Monday night, there being suspicions that opium smoking was going on in the premises. The suspicion was confirmed, but Inspector Maguire, of Louza station, found one room which puzzled him. There was a distinctly palpable odor of opium about the place but the only visible evidence of indulgence of whatever sort was a teapot which stood on the table. When the Inspector abstractedly picked up the pot the odor became even more palpable. Investigation revealed the fact that the pot had a false bottom and in the receptacle thus formed was parked a complete smoker's kit, with a small quantity of the forbidden drug.

The inference encouraged by mine host was that the teapot was brought in by some unprincipled guest but, the aforesaid lodging house keeper paid a fine of $30 at the Mixed Court yesterday and a colleague of his who operates a neighboring hostelry, at 155 Kiukiang Road, was assessed a similar sum for a similar laxity.

A more flagrant offender of the rules, whose establishment is located at 71 Yeh Kwan Li, paid $50 to the court treasurer.

Robbers Raid Home Of Banker Shattuck

(Reuter's Service)

New York, April 3.—An epidemic of robberies by armed bandits is prevailing here at present.

Four men entered the residence of Mr. Albert Shattuck, a retired banker living in Washington Square in the afternoon, and overpowered the servants, tied their hands and locked them in the wine cellar.

Similarly, they bound the banker and his wife and secured $50,000 in valuables. The butler managed to free himself and telephoned the police but the burglars escaped except one on whom $20,000 worth of jewelry was found.

To Charge Chauffeur With Manslaughter

The chauffeur of the motor car which ran down and killed eight-year-old Gardia Williuda, little German girl, on North Szechuen Road Monday, will be charged with manslaughter at the Mixed Court today. The car which the Chinese, Tsu Bing-sheng, was driving belongs to Mr. Soyishima, 161 North Szechuen Road. According to witnesses the machine turned a corner at high speed and did not sound its horn before striking the child, who dragged nearly 100 feet.

Birthday Gift From Feng To Wu Pei-fu Is Distilled Water

The birthday gift of General Feng Yu-hsiang, Tuchun of Shensi, to General Wu Pei-fu, Inspector-General of Hupeh and Hunan, was a huge flask of distilled water. In his message of greetings to Wu, Tuchun Feng asked the latter to introduce prohibition in his province. Prohibition, he said, is doing much good for the Americans.

General Wu's birthday fell on Monday. All valuable gifts were returned and he entertained only about 100 guests from distant provinces who had come specially for the occasion.

Chang San Explains Why He Attempted To Commit Suicide

Aged, crippled, almost blind and obviously suffering from illness, Chang San stumbled into the dock at the Mixed Court yesterday to explain why he had tried to end his life by throwing himself into Hongkew Creek from the Seward Road bridge.

Chang seemed amazed that the Court should ask him for reasons. He gave his bent and bedraggled length a hopeless glance of appraisal, then sighed and bent an interrogatory gaze toward the bench. Very well, he would explain. He was nearing sixty, Chang said, and it was a long time now since he had been able to do any work. Failing eyesight, crooked limbs and a succession of other bodily ills attributive thereto had whittled away his usefulness, until finally there was no longer demand, or even toleration, for his services. He was unable to pay for his lodging and a few days ago he was turned into the street.

For a night or so he had made up his bed in an alley, wandering about in the daytime. The night before someone had stolen his bedding. Why had he tried to end his life? He would be grateful if the Court could offer him an alternative. He hoped that the honorable Magistrate might see fit to send him to a hospital.

The Court deliberated briefly and, Chang being a Ningpo man, ordered the prisoner turned over to the care of the Ningpo Guild. Chang went out without comment, still wearing a dubious expression.

days, further issuance of this form of security evidently is not favored, as the report says in this connection that...."for the second year in succession the Council was faced with the problem of having to raise funds well in excess of any of its previous borrowings. Having regard to the magnitude of the sum required——(Tls. 7,000,000)——it was decided to issue an 8 percent loan at par in both tael and silver dollar debentures, the latter being an innovation designed primarily to attract subscriptions from Chinese, and with this object in view the silver dollar loan was in the form of bearer debentures with interest coupons attached. An issue of $1,000,000 was opened for subscription on April 26 and was fully subscribed on May 12. Although a certain amount of support was forthcoming from Chinese, the result of the issue does not encourage a repetition of the experiment."

The tael loan was issued in four series of Taels 1,000,000 each, the first list being opened on April 26 and the final list closed May 10, each being fully subscribed within a few days of issuance. At the close of the year debentures issued totalled Tls. 5,096,400 and $1,000,000, the balance being subscribed through the agency of the Municipal Investment Bank.

MUNICIPAL BANK

The report shows that all expectations concerning the importance of the Municipal Investment Bank and the probability of its becoming "an important cog in the loan machinery" have been realised. Deposits at the end of the year were Tls. 1,729,766 of which Tls. 1,344,966 had received allottments in the Council's loans, leaving a balance on deposit of Tls. 384,799. The number of active depositors were 760 as compared with 264 at the end of the preceding year. "In the Municipal Investment Bank," in the words of the report, "the community possesses a unique institution which not only encourages the habit of thrift but also provides a suitable investment for capital created by its practice."

And continuing, the report says that...."the question of amending the rules of the bank so as to allow its machinery being used as the sole means of financing the Council's loan requirements is now under consideration."

DEPARTMENTAL COSTS

In the report comparative figures covering five years are given of expenditure for the police department. The increase of outlay in the years is shown in the following:

	1917 Tls.	1921 Tls.
Foreign Branch	343,211	623,022
Japanese Branch	22,003	34,892
Sikh Branch	120,838	153,994
Chinese Branch	211,993	314,701
Total	698,045	1,126,609

Concerning the financing of the health department the report sets forth that the costs of house refuse disposal considerably exceeded estimates and that expenditures under this heading are likely to increase in future. It is noted that in the Public Works Department expenditure on "Maintenance of Roads and Footways" is well below budget estimates.

Complete tabular reports of the activities of both the Electricity and Finance Departments are included in the report.

Four More Charged As Armed Robbers

Four Chinese were charged at the Mixed Court yesterday as members of a gang of armed robbers operating in the Settlement, two of the men having been arrested with arms in their possession.

The quartette was taken into custody in a lodging house at 73 Sing Yui Ka and under the pillows of two were found a pair of revolvers and ten rounds of ammunition. A "fighting iron" was also found in their possession. The four were charged before Assessor Tenny and Magistrate Kwan and were ordered remanded in custody for two weeks, pending further inquiries.

A Chinese charged with complicity in the murder of Chinese Police Constable No. 438, who was shot to death by an armed robber in the Wayside District several weeks ago, was sentenced to five years imprisonment and expulsion from the Settlement by the Mixed Court yesterday. It was not proved that he was present at the time of the shooting but it was shown that he had knowledge of the fact. Another man charged in the same connection was ordered expelled from the Settlement.

WU PEI-FU FIRM IN ANTI-MUKDEN CAMPAIGN, REPORT

Understanding Said To Have Been Reached With Old Hsu To Defy Chang

(Dah Tong News Bureau)

Peking, April 4.—The report of the new rapprochement between President Hsu Shih-chang and General Wu Pei-fu has been confirmed. The Chief Executive has telegraphically instructed the provincial authorities of Shensi, Hupeh and Kiangsi to send representatives to Loyang to consult Wu on military preparation.

Wu's attitude towards Chang Tso-lin has again become very firm as a result of the clash between Kweichow and Yunnan, which is expected to delay the plans of Dr. Sun Yat-sen in carrying out his military expedition. Wu believes that he can now concentrate his attention against the Mukden chief and has induced Tsao Kun of Paotingfu to give no concessions to Chang.

Consequently, the trip of Chang Ching-hui to Paotingfu has availed nothing up to the present, while the mediation plans of Tsao Jui, who intended to proceed to Mukden shortly, has been totally abandoned.

President Hsu proposes to appeal to the nation for the election of Parliamentarians to fill the vacancies that have been open since the dissolution of the old Parliament. By so doing, Hsu expects to prevent the old Parliament from holding further extraordinary sessions.

MEI REN MAKES GOOD TIME ON HER INITIAL VOYAGE

The steamer Mei Ren, new Upper Yangtsze ship of the American-West China Navigation Company arrived in Hankow Monday noon, according to word received at the local offices yesterday, having made the trip from Shanghai in two days 22 hours. The Mei Ren sailed from Hankow yesterday morning for Ichang and Chungking and thereafter will be one of the regular craft on the Upper river run.

The ship carried a full cargo and passenger list from Shanghai, among those aboard for her initial trip being Mr. O. F. Roberts, president of the China Society of New York, and Mrs. Roberts; Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Raven, of Shanghai; Mr. D. W. Murphy, of Eisler, Reeves and Murphy; Mr. B. P. Mertens, of the Customs Service, and Mr. J. S. Dolan, manager of the China and Java Export Co.

Foreigner Ordered Returned To Colony To Stand Trial

Mr. E. A. Beaumont, manager of the North China Produce and Import Company, 39a Canton Road, who was arrested Monday on a Hongkong Government warrant, as reported in yesterday's issue, was ordered returned to Hongkong under custody by Magistrate G. W. King and will face trial on the charge of leaving the Colony September 2, 1920 with intent to evade a petition in bankruptcy filed against him.

Mr. Preston, who appeared to represent the defendant, applied for his release on bail and the Court allowed 24 hours' bail on two British securities of $250 each, renewable every 24 hours until Mr. Beaumont leaves for Hongkong. Mr. Preston in making the application stated that Beaumont is manager here for the import company and as the owner was at present away sufficient time was required to get affairs into order. He asked that his client be released for five or six days.

Dives Into River To Save False Teeth

(China Press Service)

Changsha, March 28.—A few days ago, Mr. G. G. Warren, one of the oldest foreign residents of Hunan, was on a boat near the bund which runs along the front of the city. By a curious accident his teeth dropped from his mouth into the river. Mr. Warren being an excellent swimmer, dived into the river several times trying to rescue his lost grinders.

His attempts proved fruitless, so he pointed out the spot to some of the native bystanders, and offered a reward for the recovery of the missing teeth. Not many days later, a man brought him the set of false teeth.

LLOYD GEORGE'S GENOA PROGRAM O.K'D BY HOUSE

Premier Wins Out In Long Heralded "Confidence Vote"

(Reuter's Service)

London, April 3.—The House of Commons today was crowded with a most animated gathering for the Genoa vote of confidence debate.

The debate was uneventful. Mr. Clynes, moving an amendment regretting the restricted scope of the Genoa Conference and expressing the opinion that the Government does not possess confidence and is incompetent to represent the country, urged the necessity for a revision of the Peace Treaty and immediate action as regards Russia.

Sir Donald Maclean supported the amendment.

Mr. Clynes's amendment was rejected by 379 votes to 84 while the motion was adopted by 372 to 94.

Mr. Asquith was absent owing to a chill.

Mr. Lloyd George made his first appearance in the House since February 28, and was loudly cheered.

THE RESOLUTION

In moving the resolution "that the House approves the resolution of the Supreme Council at Cannes as a basis for the Genoa Conference, and will support the Government in giving effect thereto," the Prime Minister denied the allegation that the Cabinet had revised the terms thereof, but on the contrary the Cabinet had accepted the motion in the form in which he had submitted it.

Dealing with the objections to the resolutions at Cannes limiting the scope of the discussions at Genoa, the Prime Minister declared that the Genoa Conference could not properly consider the revision of existing treaties even if it were desirable, or the question of reparations, and that it would not be fair to ask France to submit to the judgment of the Genoa Conference upon a question so vital to her.

Mr. Lloyd George said that the improverishment of Europe and the collapse of international trade, especially as affecting Britain, necessitated an effort, like the Genoa Conference, to establish international peace.

The question of peace with Russia, whose principles were odious, and whose actions were loathsome, he said, must not be approached from the standpoint of what was happening in Russia, but from that of the benefit of Europe and the world.

Russia must recognise her obligations and cease her attacks on the institutions of other countries, and must undertake no aggression against the frontiers of her neighbors.

The Prime Minister stated that there were indications of a complete change in Russia's attitude on the subject of private property, and that Lenin in his speech on November 1, 1921 had admitted the failure of the Communist system. If this, he said, represented the determination of Russia, then it was a real basis for working out conditions of peace with Russia.

ATTITUDE TOWARD RUSS

If peace could be achieved, it must be ratified by the House of Commons, but there would be no full diplomatic representation in Russia until the Powers were satisfied that she was really endeavoring to carry out her undertaking. Meanwhile Britain would be represented by a Charge d'Affaires.

The Prime Minister concluded by stating that the Government proposed most serious measures; the feelings of the people of England demanded them, Europe needed them, and the world was crying out for them.

Mr. Bonar Law supported the resolution generally. He warmly endorsed Mr. Lloyd George's policy and expressed the opinion that a refusal to recognise the Soviet might strengthen it against a possible change from inside. He would only recognise it de jure when the Soviet had actually established civilised relations with the outside world.

Lord Robert Cecil urged the employment of the machinery of the League of Nations at Genoa. He condemned the exclusion of the reparations question from the scope of the Conference.

Winding up, Mr. Austen Chamberlain said that Genoa was not going to create a new world but it might enable the world to take another step forward.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, April 4.—Japan's delegates to the Genoa Conference include Ambassadors Baron Hayashi and Viscount Ishii and Mr. Kengo Mori, the Financial Agent in London.

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, March 29.—Commenting on the possibility of a vote of confidence to Lloyd George in his attitude towards the Genoa conference, the Daily Chronicle says:

"The day when all the states of Europe for the first time after 1914 will come together in a general session no longer divided into allies and enemies nor into East and West, is going to be an epoch-making day in the history of mankind. We are sure that in this matter Lloyd George can be sure of the support of all sensible elements in the country."

Moscow, March 29.—A preliminary conference of the Powers forming the Little Entente is to be opened at Genoa on April 5.

Moscow, March 29.—The refusal of M. Poincare to participate in the Genoa conference is confirmed. M. Viviani has declined the chairmanship of the French delegation.

Bank Note Raiser Given Heavy Fine

Charged with issuing raised notes of the Bank of China and Bank of Communications a Chinese who claimed to be only the assistant in an exchange shop at 56 Avenue Edward VII was fined $200—with the alternative of three months' imprisonment—by Assessor Jacobs and Magistrate Li at the Mixed Court yesterday.

The shop assistant was arrested following the taking into custody of a man last week after he had tried to pass some of the altered notes. This man gave the address of the exchange shop as the place where he had secured the money. The man first arrested was sentenced to two months' imprisonment.

TUNG ASKS TO BE RELIEVED OF GRAFT INQUIRY

Double Duties Too Much, Says Acting Chairman

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, April 1.—Mr. Tung Kang, Acting Minister of Justice and Chairman of the Short-term Foreign and Domestic Loan Redemption Committee submitted a report on the work of the Committee to the President on Thursday, and at the same time urged that the new Minister of Justice should relieve him of his duties in this capacity. Mr. Tung states that the new Minister, Dr. Wang Chung-haui, having returned to Peking he has already obtained his consent to assume office.

It is understood says Mr. Tung's communication that Dr. Wang wished specially to take up his post as chairman of the Laws Discussion Committee and to resign from the Ministry but it is felt that he and the Vice-Minister, Mr. Lo Wen-kan, ought to be instructed to take up their duties at once as there are many matters requiring their immediate attention.

Adverting to the work of the Loan Redemption Committee, Mr. Tung deprecates his own fitness for his post as its chairman, but undertakes to carry out his duties to the best of his ability. The difficulties of the present situation should not, he says, be overlooked, but the people's belief that the Government will meet its obligations should not be disappointed.

In accordance with the regulations of the Ministry of Finance, all the officials under the Committee have been instructed to proceed with the examination of accounts without delay. An investigation of all documents relating to short-term loans in the Ministry of Finance, the Salt Administration and the various banks is also proceeding, and the officials of these institutions have been requested to interview the Committee, though they have not all done so as yet.

The public being ignorant of the facts, rumors spread more widely day by day, the memorandum/remarks, and there is much criticism of the Committee's work, but its members are none the less proceeding steadfastly with their task, knowing that the eyes of both foreigners and Chinese are upon them. They are gradually putting things in order and will report from time to time on the progress made.

Mr. Tung here acknowledges further instructions from the President to carry out his duties thoroughly, and states his intention of giving the Government and people no cause to regret having placed this work in the hands of the present committee. When the investigation has been completed, he says, a report will be made at an early date. The manner in which the funds obtained from loans are used in future, however, rests with the Ministry of Finance.

Of the funds yielded by the loans under investigation, he continues, $7,600,000 has been spent by the Minister of Finance, Mr. Chang Hu and the balance is not sufficient to pay current debts. The committee is not prepared to accept any responsibility for the effect of this statement on the market. There is much public dissatisfaction over the financial condition of the Central Government. The cases of the Yu-feng, Ta-chung and other banks have also been the occasion of attacks on the committee which has nothing to do with them. Mr. Tung adds, in this connection, that as Minister of Justice he is reponsible only for the administration of the laws and must deal with these cases accordingly.

Prince Su, Manchu Official, Is Dead

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, April 1.—The death at Dairen on March 30 is reported of Prince Su, who as Minister of Civil Affairs under the Manchu regime was largely responsible for the great improvements in the city of Peking made during the decade following the Boxer uprising.

The Iron-capped Prince left Peking hastily in the last days of the struggle that led to the downfall of the Ching House, when the fate of the Manchu was still in doubt. He went first to Mukden and then to Dairen, where he resided until his death.

Prince Su was very popular in foreign circles, owing principally to his progressive ideas and frank disposition. His departure from Peking severed the strongest link between the Chinese of Peking and the Manchus.

Japanese Police Stir Ire In Fukien

(Chung Mei News Agency)

Peking, April 1.—According to reports in the Chinese press the inhabitants of Chinmentao, in the province of Fukien, are much incensed over the fact that the town is being policed by Japanese in spite of protests on the part of the Foreign Office. Japanese police some time ago appeared in the town and when protest was made a denial was issued by the Japanese consul resident in Chinmentao. Now, according to the report of the Chinese Commissioner of Foreign Affairs, Japanese police have once more appeared, this time in plain clothes but carrying revolvers.

The public is much disturbed and various organisations such as the Chamber of Commerce, the Educational Society and the Agricultural Association, have wired to the provincial authorities urging that the matter be taken up with the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. It is hoped by the citizens of Chinmentao that a protest will be immediately lodged with the Japanese minister in order prevent the continuation of such a breach of Chinese sovereignty.

Navy Scrappers Expected To Stage Big Come-Back In Tonight's Boxing Tourney

Year's Training After Defeat In 1921 May Reverse Local Dope

The British Navy is expected to stage a strong come-back in pugilism tonight and tomorrow at the Town Hall, when after a year of hard training they find themselves pitted again against the clever young scrappers of the Shanghai Boxing Club. In the last meeting of the Club boys and the sailors, the former took nearly every event on the cards, and Naval officers then announced that especial attention would be given to instructing the seamen in the finer points of boxing. And now they are here again for another test with the club.

It will be interesting to note what improvement has been made by the Carlisle men in their boxing. They were always full of grit and willingness to mix, but they always seemed to lose either on boxing points or on knockouts slipped through insufficient guarding. A little improvement in boxing tactics should put the Carlisle men on a level with the Boxing Club members, while a considerable improvement might give them a walk-away in the tournament.

The programs for tonight's and tomorrow's bouts are somewhat different from those of a year ago, yet the loss of some of the better men of 1921 have been offset by the entrance of other men of real top-notch class this year.

The big drawing card will be Seaman Bowdidge, champion welter weight of the China Fleet, and former champion of the Mediterranean fleet. This high class boxer is billed against a sailor, Jock Harkins, a man with a record of knockouts and wins in England and Scotland that should cause even Bowdidge concern. Bowdidge however is in excellent condition, having just come from a win in the Hongkong tourney over a first class scrapper, Groves, of the Hawkins. The men weighed in at 156 lbs. at Hongkong. Harkins is listed at 149 lbs. for the tournament here. The Champion will have a slight advantage in weight, but his admirers are pointing to his record of wins over even bigger men, and resting in confidence. The men fight 10 rounds.

Chaney, the new find of the local club fights the other 10 round bout against Batiev of the Carlisle. Neither of the men have ever before been seen in action in Shanghai, but both are touted as men of real fighting and boxing ability. The mill has stirred up considerable interest both in Shanghai and aboardship. The men enter the ring at 128 lbs.

Young Siemssen's match against Tallemache of the Carlisle, a 6 round affair, will be watched with close attention by local fight fans. Siemssen at the last tournament at the Public School showed the best condition and the best class of any of the bigger local boxers. He has been conceded a high place aming local scrappers and is certain to give the public a little entertainment. Tallemache is not known here, but the Carlisle men know Siemssen, so they must be sending a good man against him.

Another fight bound to stir interest is that between Drummer Mew of the Carlisle and Karanjia of the Club. The men are scheduled for 6 rounds at 110 lbs. The little drummer was the best little man at the last tournament here, when he took a very popular decision over Bob Perry after 6 rounds of hard milling. Karanjia is a new man but he must rank well with Shanghai matchmakers to be pitted against Mew.

Other bouts all have particular interest. The scrap between the two Fillipinos, Slogger Sam and Buster Bill ought to be one of the best on the card. The Islanders always have taken to boxing and have turned out hundreds of top-notchers and thousands who know the boxing game well enough to cause any Shanghai enthusiast to stop and look and become interested. Johannson, Carlson and others on the card all have won in previous bouts and are certain to give good exhibitions tonight and tomorrow.

The boxing tonight commences at the Town Hall at 9:15.

SAYS 'BUGS' Baer:

GINK AND GLUTT BITTER FRIENDS

When They Started To Fight It Was Every Orphan For Himself

BY "BUGS" BAER

Dear:

You are so dear to me that it is almost profiteering. How do you ever get your brains into such a scrambled administration that you imagine Gink Fowler is champion of anything? Much less fighting?

My man knocked him for a community of pagodas. Gink had about as much chance as a bunion in an iron shoe.

Don't give me any more of that stuff, as I'm stuffed to the ears now. HARRY GREEN,

Of Green, Green and Greener, Chicago.

We have had many arguments with Mr. Green, who doesn't seem to know that putting molasses on your knuckles doesn't make a punch taste any sweeter.

When Gink met The Glutt it was a terrific battle. They fought like Amazons.

Amazons are women? All right. Gink and The Glutt fought like perfect ladies.

The Glutt smacked Gink with a left sledge. He figured on bopping Gink on either eye.

But Gink was so clever that The Glutt missed both of Gink's eyes and the blow landed between the champion's lamps.

Gink went down to the canvas department for a count of perfect thirty-six.

Up he bounces in due season and donates two boots to The Glutt. They pull and haul around the ring, with Gink doing all the leading and The Glutt all the following.

That's how Gink grabbed the title of Pathfinder. Old Leather-stockings never discovered more exits than Gink.

A window looked like an Arch of Triumph to the Roughtown champion.

Out he goes carrying the window sash for a lavaliere and the two pig iron weights for ear-rings.

It was an Amazonian battle. When they counted up the knitting they discovered that Gink had won by two dropped stitches.

After that Gink and The Glutt went into active training. The Glutt turned all his liabilities into cash and retired to the nearest riot.

Football Booms Small Towns; Trouble Follows

(Chung Mei Service)

From the middle western state of Illinois comes a story which shows football in the new guise of a real estate promotion activity.

Two small towns—Taylorville and Carlinville—had developed the habit of staging annual football tournaments with the aid of hired college players. The idea, presumably, in its original form, was to raise real estate values and rentals by putting both towns on the map. This year the betting factor entered.

The citizens of one town recently hired an entire championship team and bet to the limit on what they thought would be a sure thing.

The other town countered by hiring a super-championship team and not only defeated the rival team but won nearly $50,000 by covering every bet made.

As the players were all well paid, there is now a scandal involving the teams of a well-known college and a great state university.

Peking Promotes Second Cycle Race

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, April 2.—The Journal de Peking announces that it will promote another race for the Cycling Championship of China over the same course which the previous race was run last October.

There will be prizes for the first five or six places the details of which will be announced later. The course is from Peking to Patachou and back and is 56 kilometers long. The race will be international and it is hoped that as many different countries as possible represented.

Last year there were 87 entrants and the event was won by Laurent, a Belgian in two hours and 10 minutes which was considered to be excellent time in view of the hilly nature of the course. Li Hio-chiun, a Chinese finished second. Li Hio-chiun is recognised as the Champion bycicilst of China and he will this time endeavor to wrest the Peking championship from foreign hands. Li was the only Chinese to place, incidentally, a Belgian finishing third and two French cyclists fourth and fifth.

Every type of bicycle was used by the contestants, several appearing to date from the Cro-Magnum era.

St. John's And Shanghai College Play Final Game In Basketball Tie Today

Baptist's Win Over Soochow Saturday Leaves Only St. John's To Beat

The East China Intercollegiate basketball championship will be decided this evening when St. John's and the Shanghai Baptist College teams play off the final game of the three-cornered tie for first position. The two teams finished the season's schedule tied with Soochow for first honors, and in the first playoff on Saturday Shanghai just nosed out over Soochow by a 21-20 score.

On the season's performances both Shanghai and St. John's stand even up on form, but local basketball fans, particularly Chinese students and graduates who are in close touch with the capabilities of the whole league are favoring St. John's for today's game. The S.J.U. men count much on their experience and team combination to overcome the excellence of play of the Shanghai College men.

The meeting of Shanghai and St. John's today is a real championship test for basketball in East China. St. John's won the title last year, while in 1920 Shanghai was the champion. The two fives always have rankec high up in the finals, and have always been rated among the best in Chinese student basketball.

The teams announced by the two colleges for today's game are:

Shanghai		St. John's
Pan Shen-mei	R.F.	K. L. Loo
Su Djen-tien	L.F.	V. H. Ling
Feng Dja-shen	C'ter	C. T. Zung
Hwang Fu-chiang	R.G.	F. S. Tsiang
Bao Ging-di	L.G.	T. T. Moo

The game will be played on the open court at Nanyang college. It will be postponed in event of a big rain, though a slight rain will not interfere. Play commences at 3 p.m. Mr. Jackson will referee.

Police Recs Hold Annual Meet Today

Preliminary arrangements for the annual police track and field sports will be made at a meeting of the Police Recreation Club to be held at the Central Station this afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Reports of officers will be heard and new officers and a committee are to be elected. A special committee will probably be named to make arrangements for the annual track and field day.

PORTLAND FAIR ENVOY IS HERE TO INVITE CHINA

Mr. Julius L. Meier Tells Of Electrical Exposition To Be Held In 1925

Julius L. Meier, chairman of the Atlantic-Pacific Highways and Electrical exposition, of Portland Oregon, arrived in Shanghai yesterday on the Bay State, and will remain in this city for several days before proceeding to Peking. He is circling the world in the interest of a great international fair to be held in Portland during 1925. Mr. Meier is now a guest at the Astor House.

"The purpose of my tour," said Mr. Meier, "is to extend to all nations a tentative invitation to participate in the forthcoming world fair, which is designed not only to foster the harmony of nations, following the era of world war, but to promote and facilitate those commercial relations which make for peace and common prosperity.

"In Japan, which I have just visited, my mission was well received. Government officials and business men alike assured me of their keen interest in the exposition project and of the certainty that the Japanese section at the Portland fair in 1925 would eclipse anything that nation has heretofore presented. Mr. Hanihara, vice-minister of foreign affairs, is personally interested in the announced exposition, as a means of promoting a greater export trade from Japan to America, and has promised to do all in his power to aid us. Definite official action, of course, must await the formal invitation from President Harding which will undoubtedly be issued upon my return to America within the next six months.

"It is my intention to extend a similar invitation to the Chinese government, through conferences with the proper officials at Peking and, of course while in Shanghai I shall not neglect to interview the many prominent firms and merchants who could, through individual or co-operative exhibits, aid so largely in making Chinese participation a distinctive success.

"The 1925 exposition, while an all-American fair, is nevertheless peculiarly the conception of the Pacific northwest. I need scarcely say that we of that district are vitally interested in trade with the Orient, and would count our completed project a semi-failure did it not enlist an exhibit from this country commensurate with the importance we attach to it."

Mr. Meier is accompanied by Mrs. Meier, their daughters, Miss Jean and Miss Elsa, and their son Jack. They will remain in China for a fortnight or more, sailing from this port for Marseilles sometime the latter part of the month.

CHANG TSO-LIN AFTER GUNBOATS IN AMUR WATERS

Undertakes To Pay All Arrears If Squadron Is Placed Under Him

The acquisition of the naval squadron now patrolling the Sungari and the Amur is the latest ambition of Marshal Chang Tso-lin, warlord of Mukden, according to news received by the local authorities here yesterday.

When Bolshevism broke out in Siberia, the Central Government despatched the Gunboats Li Chi, Li Shui, Li Chuen and Kiangheng to patrol the waters bordering Russian territory for the protection of Chinese. Several international incidents occurred during their service on these rivers. Most of them were fired upon either by Japanese or Russians. For the last year, however, no provision has been made for these ships by the Peking administration on account of the financial stringency of the government treasury. Repeated and urgent appeals have been made by the naval authorities on duty but no response have been made by Peking.

All the ships have negotiated private loans from Chinese merchants in Vladivostok and elsewhere until their credit was exhausted and last month, Commander Wang Chung-wen, chief of the squadron, sent an appeal to the Mukden chief for funds. General Chang at once got into communication with the Ministry of Navy, undertaking to pay all back dues provided this section of the naval forces is placed directly under his control. The Ministry is said to be agreeable.

Local naval authorities are strenuously opposed to the proposed acquisition by the Fengtien warlord on the ground that the navy should take concerted action in case of naval operation and that any attempt to alienate a section of the strength should be condemned.

Weighing The New Mayor

IT'S a strange custom they practice in England on the induction of a Mayor into office. Whether it is part of the old adage, "Weighed and found wanting," or whether it is a desire to see how much weight the Mayor will put on during his term of office, it is difficult to understand, but nevertheless the fact remains that in some parts of England it is still part of the inaugural ceremonies to weigh the incoming Mayor. The photo shows Mayor G. H. Taylor being duly weighed, according to the ancient custom.

Case For Defense Opens In Pomeroy-Quelch Suit

The defense opened its case at the British Supreme Court yesterday afternoon in the action brought by Mr. P. F. Pomeroy against Mr. H. Quelch in which damages for alleged wrongful dismissal and payment of other claims are asked.

The opening address was made by Mr. Ranald G. MacDonald, appearing for defendant. At the outset Judge Peter Grain intimated that he would hold that the house belonging to Mr. Pomeroy near Vancouver had been purchased by Mr. Quelch but that it remained for a price to be settled.

The principal points in the statement for the defense were that Mr. Pomeroy had disobeyed instructions in the matter of drawing funds, in the matter of cabling the monthly balance and in making the trip to Canada. The trip was taken at a holiday it was contended, the cargo being taken in order to justify the journey as a business trip. Defendant repudiated the claim that there was an agreement to pay a bonus. There might or might not have been a profit on the working for 1920 but it could not have been a large one and assuming there had been a profit of $1,000, was it likely, Mr. MacDonald, submitted, that Mr. Quelch would pledge himself to pay a bonus of Tls. 5,000? If Mr. Quelch had taken legal advice on his return to Shanghai, counsel said, Mr. Pomeroy would have been dismissed immediately. Mr. Quelch had been indulgent and had offered a month's notice and commissions.

Regarding the Canadian venture, Mr. MacDonald said, Mr. Quelch could see no earthly reason why the goods should not have been invoiced to Messrs. Garner, Quelch instead of to Mr. Pomeroy personally. If the Court held that the Canadian venture was a private affair, then all the expenditure would have to stand on the over-draft, if not, they would have to be cut out.

The morning session was largely taken up with testimony by Mr. Eric M. Ross, of Messrs. Lowe, Bingham and Matthews, touching the accounts of the firm. The total loss on 1920 was shown at Tls. 25,216 and the capital was given as Tls. 42,000. Witness stated that he did not consider the figure of Tls. 25,216 fairly represented the results of the year's working. The item of travelling expenses for the year, he said, showed large discrepancies. They were Tls. 16,693 for 1920. In 1919 they were Tls. 4,358. During Mr. Quelch's trip in 1920 Tls. 12,252 was charged to the firm as his travelling expenses. This item would have to be eliminated to decide the question of whether Mr. Pomeroy ran the business successfully or not. The year could not benefit from that trip.

Mr. MacDonald remarked that plaintiff's commisaion was on the turnover.

Mr. Ross stated that he would not allow any of Mr. Quelch's travelling expenses against the profit and loss account for that year. Questioned, he stated that Mr. Quelch had been credited with a salary of Tls. 1,000 a month for the period. He had been absent ten months and witness thought that if he were allowed to charge half his salary it would have been fair and ample as a charge against the business. Witness went into other items and stated that with alterations and amendments the year showed a profit of Tls. 21,000 odd. Deducting Mr. Quelch's salary and interest on capital the profit would be Tls. 32,000 odd, or seventy percent. The turnover in 1920 was larger than in the year before. In reply to Mr. Tycho Wing, for the plaintiff, witness gave the turnover of the firm as Tls. 318,000 for 1918, Tls. 254,000 for 1919 and Tls. 332,000 for 1920.

Evidence was also given during the morning by Mr. J. H. Nancollis, of the Canadian Pacific Steamships, regarding the consignments to Canada made by Mr. Pomeroy.

Reception Given Secy. H. C. Norman By Catholic Ass'n

Mr. H. C. Norman, secretary and one of the founders of the St. Joseph's Catholic Association, and Mrs. Norman were guests of honor of the organisation yesterday afternoon at a farewell reception given in anticipation of their early departure on a vacation in England.

The association, under the chairmanship of Mr. K. Begdon gave a musical and vocal entertainment after which the Rev. Father J. A. Croke, president of the Association presented Mr. Norman with a handsome smoking set as a remembrance and appreciation from the association.

The program included songs by Mrs. Frances Dunne, Mrs. Frank Jones, and Mr. Senner. The Misses Berthet gave a piano duet, followed by a piano solo by Mrs. Henry White, with Miss K. Shekury accompanying.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman will be given a farewell tiffin tomorrow noon by the Rotary Club of which he is president. The tiffin will be given at the Union Club. Ladies will attend the meeting upon invitation of members. Capt. E. R. G. R. Evans, C. B., D. S. O. of the British cruiser Carlisle will be the speaker of the day.

Mr. Norman leaves for England on the Atsuta Maru which sails on Monday at daylight.

SHANTUNG MINE GRANT BITTERLY OPPOSED BY WU

Gen. Holds Concessions Should Belong To People

(Chang Mei Service)

Peking, March 30.—The largest mining company in China thus far was registered yesterday at the Ministry of Agriculture and Commerce for the operation of mines along the Shantung Railway. It is to be capitalised at $20,000,000 and is organised apparently by the military party of Shantung under the leadership of General Chin Yun-peng, General Wang Chan-yuan, and a number of others.

General Wu Pei-fu is reported to be bitterly opposed to the company upon the grounds that the concessions for these Shantung mines was regained solely by the efforts of the Chinese people at the Washington Conference and not by either the initiative or the wisdom of the military leaders. Wu Pei-fu protested against the company prior to its formal registration and has been supported in this stand by numerous groups of citizens.

The mining company is to operate all of the mines along the Kiaochow-Tsinan Railway as soon as this is restored to the Chinese authorities. It is believed that the military leaders involved in the company will shortly begin negotiations with the Japanese for the utilisation of their mining properties and equipment.

According to reports from Loyang Wu Pei-fu is quoted as saying that the military party should not benefit either directly or indirectly by the possession of these mines.

Krupp Interests Get Russ Concessions

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, March 25.—People's Commissar of Agriculture, Mr. Yakovenko, and his assistant, Mr. Teodorovitch, explain in an interview what in their opinion foreign capital can do in Russia. The Commissariat of Agriculture is planning foreign loan participation in the restoration and development of agriculture along the following main lines.

First the restoration of the irrigation system in the Turkestan cotton fields and Crimea, and the establishment of new systems in the Volga Basin; second, the expansion of fruit and vegetable gardening; third, the construction of elevators and refrigerators.

The third is exceptionally important for Russia. On account of too frequent crop failures, due to the backward Russian three-field system, preference is to be given to the production of animal products. The increase of animal products necessitates cold storage facilities.

Fourth, the restoration of seeds and stock; fifth, the restoration of old and the obtaining of new stock and machinery needed for intensification and cultivation on new lines; sixth, the restoration and development of animal breeding generally. The Commissariat intends to encourage the selection system.

Seventh, the development of fertiliser production. Here Russia has tremendous possibilities, as it possesses great phosphate fields. Eighth, pest and insect destruction work. This is a task of enormous importance. Adequate measures could have saved this year's corn to the value of two hundred and fifty million gold roubles, or half the pre-war Russian export.

Lastly, primary products must be prepared for consumption: this will require refineries, canning factories, etc. The second field of work for foreign capital is in various concessions such as timber, colonisation, electrification, wool, meat production and large agricultural enterprises.

For the last purpose a concession to the Krupp company for fifty thousand desiatines of land is near completion. Next come concessions on sugar, seeds, furs, etc.

SCHURMAN'S PLANS

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, March 31.—A telegram to the American Legation from the Minister, Dr. Schurman, states that he and his party will arrive at Chemulpo on April 5, whence Dr. Schurman himself will proceed immediately to Antung, rejoining his ship at Dairen on April 10 after a three-day visit to Mukden in the interval. The U.S.S. Albany will convey the party from Dairen to Chefoo, arriving there on April 12, and they are expected to reach Peking three days later.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, March 28.—Some sixty representatives of the blind in this country met in conference yesterday at the Central Public Hall in Osaka under the auspices of the Osaka Mainichi. Means of protection for the blind and the improvement of their education were discussed. The resolutions passed by the meeting will shortly be presented to the Minister for Home Affairs in the form of a petition.

APPEAL REJECTED

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, March 31.—The appeal to be allowed to resign of Mr. Lu Hsueh-pu, Vice-Minister of Finance, has been rejected but he has been granted twenty days' leave, "owing to illness."

REPORT DENIED

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, March 31.—A denial of the report that the Waichiaopu had protested to the American Legation against the employment of American aviators by the Canton Government was issued by the Foreign Office today.

War Clouds Scare Paotingfu Gentry

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, April 1.—Considerable uneasiness among the public is reported from Paotingfu, whence many of the gentry are transferring their families and valuables to Tientsin.

General Chang Tso-lin is continuing his military preparations. His forces now occupy many important points along the Peking-Mukden railway beyond Shanhaikwan, and it is reported that he has ordered the Guards Brigade to proceed to Nanyuan under the command of his son, General Chang Hsueh-ling.

General Chang Tso-lin, therefore, is gradually placing himself in a strong military position and consequently in a favorable position for negotiations with General Wu Pei-fu, who understands military considerations better than those of a purely political nature.

JOBLESS SUPPRESSED

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, April 1.—The "Popular Association," which is said to have been organised mainly by former officials of the Ministry of Finance who lost their posts in the last political shuffle, was suppressed by the Metropolitan Police on Thursday last.

Hot with indignation at this arbitrary conduct on the part of the authorities the Association has sent a circular telegram to the provinces, appealing for support.

SOLDIERS SLAIN

(Special To The China Press)

London, April 1.—Advices to the Times from Huelvia, Spain, state that 700 French soldiers have been ambushed and killed by Moroccan tribesmen.

TANAKA HOME

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, April 1.—General Baron Tanaka, former Minister of War, who has been to the Philippines has returned here this evening.

Transport Bureau Appoints Experts

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, March 31.—The Ministry of Communications has announced the following appointments:

Messrs. Yen Teh-ching, Tsen Kun-hua and Chang Ku will be members of the Communications Commission for Shantung. Mr. Li Kuang-chow and two others yet to be appointed will be technical experts of the General Department of the above Commission. Messrs. Hsia Chang-chih and Tsai Kuang-yi will be technical experts of the Engineering Department. Mr. Tu Cha-tseng will be technical expert of the Transportation Department. Mr. Li Yu will be technical expert of the Department of Posts and Telegraphs. Mr. Chen Tien-chi will be technical expert of the Department of Harbor and River Construction.

Most of these experts served in a technical capacity with the Chinese Delegation to Washington.

Opium Traders At Ichang Prosperous

(China Press Correspondence)

Hankow, March 30.—Opium trade at Ichang is continuing to flourish and very soon will probably enter upon a new era of prosperity, as one big opium combine composed of influential and consequential opium smugglers is trying to buy the monopoly from the officials with the view of increasing their business. Opium inspectors there have been approached with the proposition whereby the former will have a liberal share of their profits by confiscating a portion of all smuggled drugs.

Yen To Entertain Conference Envoys

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, March 31.—Dr. W. W. Yen will give a reception to the Delegates of the World Christian Student Federation at the Waichiaopu at 5 p.m. on April 11. About four hundred guests will be invited.

The lure of an exquisite woman is irresistable, yet her conflicting moods make her a baffling enigma to all men. "The Riddle: Woman" is magnificent in the grandeur of its settings, the splendor of its gowns and the vivid personalities of an all star cast.

A MESSAGE TO ALL WOMEN:

Exquisite woman, your eyes mirror the mystery of Mona Lisa, forever the riddle of the Universe. Your intuition in times of stress provides the real dramas of humanity, Your moods are the despair and the glory of man. Yet you know not the complex emotions of your own heart.

Show us the true lights of your nature!

Teach us the true depth of your passion! Reveal to us the true secrets of your heart!

What hidden heritage of the eternal feminine makes you forever

DOROTHY PHILLIPS

"A Mighty Milestone in Motion Pictures"

Presented by Albert A. Kaufman

You'll see her as WOMAN TRIUMPHANT—
—the mate of a cave-man fierce in her love.
—the gorgeous Amazon ruling by Mother-Right.

You'll sob with her as WOMAN FAILING—
—the slave girl weeping midst barbaric beauties of Pagan Courts.
—the helpless bride of mediæval days.

You'll cheer her as WOMAN UPRISING—
—the girl mother of today, fighting again the battle of her sex, routing evil forces, struggling from the man-shackles of marriage to a new triumph of Mother Right.

Told in a Thousand Scenes of Drama, Smiles, Thrills, Vast Panoramas and Intimate Insights Unparalleled in Motion Pictures.

Five Catholics In Belfast Murdered

(Reuter's Service)

London, April 3.—Altogether five civilians, all of whom were Roman Catholics, were murdered in their homes at Belfast last Saturday night as a reprisal for the killing of a policeman on the street by a Sinn Fein sniper.

London, April 3.—At question time in the House of Commons today, Mr. Winston Churchill said that a Government tug was piratically captured by members of the Republican forces while proceeding from Haulbowline Island to Devonport, carrying four hundred rifles, seven hundred revolvers, thirty-nine machine guns half a million rounds of rifle ammunition and a small quantity of explosives.

He stated that the vessel was taken to Cork and the cargo discharged into a hundred commandeered motor lorries. A warship which left Queenstown to search for the tug found the local population looting the vessel, the members of the Republican forces having disappeared.

Mr. Churchill said that the fact that such an elaborate conspiracy could have been engineered in Cork without the knowledge of the Provisional Government showed that the latter's control of the district around Cork was practically non-existent. He said that this was all the more remarkable in that public opinion in Cork was overwhelmingly in favor of the Irish Treaty.

Mr. Churchill said that the admiralty would, in future furnish naval escorts for the maritime transport of arms. He did not think that there was much danger to passenger ships.

April 4, 1922

Spot bar silver was down 1-8d. and forward unchanged in London yesterday.

The New York price declined to 65½ cents, and the London-New York cross rate improved to 439½.

The only changes in the official quotations here today were a rise in the Gold Dollar rate to 71½, and a drop in the Franc rate to 785.

Our market at the opening was steady, with sellers of Sterling at 3-3¾ for April-May-June, and of Gold Dollars at 73 for April and 72¾ for May-June.

Later in the morning, however, these rates eased off as speculators were buyers and, at the Tiffin interval, there were no sellers of Sterling at better than 3-3⅝ for April and 3-3½ for May-June.

There were sellers of Gold Dollars at the same time at 72¾ for April, 72⅝ for May and 72½ for June.

In the afternoon, however, rates straddled up somewhat and the market closed with sellers of Sterling at 3-3⅝ for any delivery to June and sellers of Gold Dollars at 72⅞ for April, 72¾ May and 72⅝ for June.

China again sold silver in London yesterday and America bought.

Both the New York and London markets are reported as uncertain.

Hunan People Hard Hit By Famine

(China Press Correspondence)

Siangtan, March 29.—Mr. Seeliger of the German China Inland Mission, who resides in Siangsiang which is only 30 miles from Siangtan, reports that in that section of Hunan many people are starving for want of rice and food. He has seen many men and women who barely have strength to move, selling their children for a few hundred cash, the price of a day's food.

It has been recently stated by some who have visited the city of Changsha and seen rice abundant, that there is no famine imminent in Hunan. Perhaps there is rice enough in the province to feed the people if it were well distributed, if there were no graft and greed among officials, and if the price of rice in certain places were not prohibitive. But the fact remains that in Western Hunan the situation is a grave one, and famine work is needed.

Plans are under way for building a roadway from Siangtan to Paoching, which project could employ famine labor but the task of the famine relief committee is a difficult one, since the situation is not only caused by rice shortage, but affected largely by corrupt officials who would most heartily welcome famine relief.

Reds Of Various Hues In Conference

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, April 3.—The conference of the three Socalist Internationals opened in the Reichstag today. Messrs. Ramsay Macdonald, Harry Gosing and Tom Shaw represented Great Britain.

A protest made by the Bolshevik representatives against the presence of the Russian Menshevik delegates, threatened to break up the Conference at the outset but a decision to hold the sittings in public settled the difficulty.

The Austrian representative, Dr. Adler, explained that the conference aimed, not at fusion but at joint action by the three groups on labor questions.

After a heated altercation between M. Vandervelde, the Belgian representative and Karl Radek, one of the Bolshevik representatives, regarding the sincerity of the Bolsheviks, the conference adjourned.

ACCUSED OF FRAUD

(China Press Service)

Washington, April 3.—Benjamin and Leon Rosenbaum, woolmerchants of Louisville, Kentucky, and Percy Mathews, formerly an auditor in the United States Department of Agriculture were indicted today for alleged conspiracy to defraud the Government.

It is alleged that the Rosenbaums failed to make returns of certain sales of wool while the Department of Agriculture had control during the war. Mathews is alleged to have doctored the report.

The New Crisis At Vladivostok

THE steady advance of the forces of the Far Eastern Republic towards Vladivostok is bringing more and more definitely into the focus of attention the question of the so-called Neutral Zone between the alleged jurisdiction of the Vladivostok Government and the territory now undoubtedly under the control of the Far Eastern Republic. This neutral zone was originally demarcated as the result of an understanding between the Japanese Military Command at Vladivostok and the Zemstvo Administration of the Maritime Province, in April 1920, at a time when the Japanese interventionist and annexationist ambitions were at their highest. It was intended as a military cordon which should prevent the "contamination" of Vladivostok, and especially of the Japanese and Japanese-subsidised troops in that port, by the democratic notions of the people of the Maritime Province, as represented in the Provincial Zemstvo.

Since that time, however, it has served many peculiar purposes, the chief of them being that of a sanctuary for the reactionary forces, regular and irregular, that found themselves in difficulties on the wrong, that is to say the non-Vladivostok, side of the fence. It has also served to harbor a host of desperate characters, mostly owing allegiance to, or at any rate deriving their sustenance from, Japanese sources. Its original purpose disappeared with the disappearance of the Maritime Provincial Zemstvo, when the consolidated Far Eastern Republic, with its headquarters at Chita, was established. In spite of the disappearance of its original purpose, however, it has been maintained by the Japanese Military Command for purposes and objects peculiarly Japanese. The question now presents itself in a definite, and even an acute, form: "Is Japan going to use the Neutral Zone as a means of checking the advance, and the eventual triumph, of the forces of the Far Eastern Republic?" Much depends on the answer.

A few days ago Mr. Yanson, the Minister of Foreign Affairs of the Far Eastern Republic, raised the issue directly with the Japanese Delegation to the Dairen Conference, in the course of a lengthy memorandum, in the course of which several points were made very clear. To these points it may be as well to direct attention.

In the first place, the Government of the Far Eastern Republic has never in any way recognised the Neutral Zone. The agreement for the establishment of a Neutral Zone was made before the Far Eastern Republic came into existence, and the conditions completely changed when that event took place. The change in conditions in any case made the Zone unnecessary, and this would have been still more emphatically so had the Japanese authorities at once recognised that in the Far Eastern Republic a new state the authority of which practically everybody in the Russian Far East acknowledged except the reactionaries supported by Japan herself, had come into being.

The only factor today that preserves alive insubordination to the Chita Government is the Japanese Military Command. On that single factor depends the so-called independence of Vladivostok, the one spot in the Russian Far East which declines to recognise the authority of Chita. If Japanese troops were withdrawn from Vladivostok, the port would declare for Chita and go over almost without even a demonstration of dissent. Under these conditions, the maintenance of a neutral zone amounts to nothing more or less than the maintenance of a fence behind which Japanese intrigue may hide, and that is the only purpose the Zone can now be said to serve.

It is obvious that the Chita Government cannot now, and it never could, consent to the establishment of an institution the sole object of which is to facilitate defiance of itself. Hence there has never been, and never can be, any recognition of the Neutral Zone by Chita, and when the forces of the Far Eastern Republic approach the zone they will be entirely justified in ignoring its existence and treating the territory within it, and the reactionary troops within it, just as they have treated other territory held by reactionary troops, that is to say, they will march against it and occupy it at the point of the bayonet in case of resistance. There can be no question about that. They are now doing it being within 90 miles of the port, after a rapid advance of 90 miles in less than a week.

In the second place, the Japanese themselves have not respected the Neutral Zone. They have themselves used it as a base, and they have permitted it to be used as a base by their proteges, for attacks upon the Far Eastern Republic. This fact has been brought to the notice of the Japanese Government more than once. On February 21 a memorandum on this subject was addressed to Mr. Matsushima, the Japanese Delegate to the Dairen Conference, in the course of which a large number of instances of violations of the Neutral Zone by the Japanese themselves was enumerated; and in the still more recently presented note of Mr. Yanson additional instances are given.

The most glaring instance of all is not given. The original agreement for the demarcation of the Zone was signed on the Russian side by a Mr. Zeitlin. So badly has order been kept in the Neutral Zone, a duty that the Japanese took upon themselves in spite of protests, that this very Mr. Zeitlin was not long ago murdered within its limits. The condemnation of the Neutral Zone rests upon two sets of facts: innumerable instances of the use of the Neutral Zone by forces operating against the Chita forces, and equally numerous records of outrages committed in the Neutral Zone in spite of the alleged Japanese maintenance of order there.

With Japan herself not observing the Neutral Zone stipulations, and with the Government of the Far Eastern Republic consistently refusing to recognise the validity of the Neutral Zone agreement, is it quite obvious that at the present juncture, when nothing but the existence of the Neutral Zone stands between the Chita forces and the occupation of Vladivostok and the complete unification of the Far Eastern Republic, neither the Chita forces nor the Chita Government is going to pay the slightest attention to the embargo that the Zone implies. As Mr. Yanson puts it in his Note: "In pursuing the armed bands in the southern section of the Maritime Province, the army of the Far Eastern Republic will follow them over the entire territory of the Maritime Province." The Far Eastern Government expresses the hope that "the Japanese Military Command will not hinder the movement of the army of the Far Eastern Republic along the Ussuri Railway through the so-called thirty-verst zone, where Japanese troops are stationed, or in other parts of the Maritime Province; and further, will render assistance to the army in the matter of liquidating the armed bands which disturb the peaceful course of life of the population of the province."

This is the least that can be expected. If the Japanese Military Command is wise it will comply with the request of the Chita Government, but if it refuses to do so, then it endangers the good relations between Japan and the Far Eastern Republic, jeopardises the peace of the Far East, of which Japan is so tender, and may easily precipitate a crisis of a most deplorable character. All the signs indicate that the game of the reactionaries is up in the Far Eastern Republic, and this the Japanese ought to realise. Their wisest policy is to face the facts, and the principal fact is that their friends are broken, their tools destroyed, their policy bankrupt and their continued presence on the mainland of the Russian Far East, and in North Sakhalin, absolutely unjustified and unjustifiable.

GOV. WOOD'S VETO POWER

Editor: THE CHINA PRESS

Sir: In yesterday's issue of your paper, there appeared a cable dispatch from Manila containing the information that the Philippines Herald, the pioneer Filipino daily in English, printed last Sunday a cartoon picturing Governor Wood as a big bully stabbing a female Filipino figure labelled "university" with a big dagger labelled "veto power." The dispatch says that the picture has aroused the resentment of Americans who think it is libelous as well as seditious.

I do not propose to discredit the veracity of the whole cablegram—in fact, I am not in a position to do it even if I wanted to, being so far away from the Philippines—but I wish to take exception to certain statements contained in that message which I think are misleading. I do not question the fact of the cartoon itself but I desire to correct the erroneous impression which might have been created by the comments with which it was colored.

Referring to "the progressive campaign of opposition and defiance carried on by a group of American-educated students, led by Maximo M. Kalaw, 'dean' of the College of Liberal Arts of the University of the Philippines," the dispatch in question says:

"This campaign has grown in venom since General Wood vetoed sixteen bills passed by the last legislature session for the development of the University, which is now far in advance of the real educational needs of the Filipino whose politicians would starve the lower schools so that the 'illustrado' class, or what the half-tutored Filipino hopes to make the University graduate, can be turned into lawyers without briefs and doctors without hope of patients.

"This class of young malcontents whose vista of many fat professorships and kindred jobs has been made empty air by the veto, now claim that the Governor General cannot exercise the veto power except in matters directly affecting American sovereignty."

I was still in Manila two weeks ago when Dean Kalaw published a lengthy article in which he characterised in respectful language the action of Governor Wood in vetoing sixteen of the eighty-three bills passed by the Philippine Legislature in its last session, as a deathblow to Philippine autonomy. While this may be purely an academic question, the fact of the matter is that the Jones Law which is the organic act of the Philippine Islands gives the Filipino people complete and absolute autonomy in matters relating to domestic affairs. Governor Harrison, General Wood's predecessor, interpreting as far as was consistent with the sovereign power of the United States over the Philippines the true spirit of the Jones Law, did not exercise the veto power except once or twice in the eight years that he administered the affairs of the Islands as chief executive.

The Filipino people have been promised their independence and in accordance with this promise, the administration of the government has been and is being left in the hands of the natives with a view to their eventual emancipation. The policy of the American government has been one of progressiveness toward this end and the Filipinos, jealous over their acquired rights, would naturally oppose any attempt to set back the clock of progress in management of their interests. They consider the wholesale exercise, so I may say, of the veto power by Governor Wood in this light and their opposition is based on this score. It is no defiance at all for the Filipinos are mindful of the great work which General Wood is doing in the Philippines for the material development of the country and the people.

It is not true that in the fight for a greater appropriation for the University of the Philippines, the Filipino politicians propose "to starve the lower schools so that the 'illustrado' class may be turned into lawyers without briefs and doctors without hope of patients."

In the first place, the campaign for an enlarged allotment for the University is not conducted by the politicians. It was started by friends of the University in the legislature, the President, of course, the faculties and the student body. It was the politicians, if members of the legislature might be called such, with whom those interested in the welfare of the University had to argue, plead and remonstrate. Since its foundation in 1908, the University of the Philippines had to depend for its annual support upon the whims and caprices of budget-makers. It is realised that unless the University has a permanent and sufficient fund from which it may draw for its expansion and development, the institution can never hope to be the institution of learning and influence that it should be. There is a steady increase of enrollment in its different colleges and the demand for more professors, better equipped laboratories, more spacious buildings and extensive grounds will never be satisfied unless the University has a permanent and sure source of income. This is realised by Governor Wood himself who in a speech at the formal inauguration of President Benton last December said that the University is not only entitled to a liberal support from the legislature but that it should also be endowed with certain public lands. It seems inconsistent for him after this utterance to veto the University bill appropriating P18,000,000 for the nine-year development of the institution, a sum less than one half of the original amount requested, which was P50,000,000.

With the setting aside of this proposed appropriation, it is believed that the lower schools would have no need of being "starved." Elementary instruction in the Philippines is well taken care of. A definite part of the revenues of the government goes to the fund for its spread and dissemination and only recently the enormous sum of P30,000,000 was appropriated for primary and intermediate education.

If the young men and women of the Philippines want to attend the University, it is not because the politicians desire them to be there. They want to get university instruction because they hope to see exercised in their country the right kind of leadership and citizenship regardless of what the politicians say. The University of the Philippines is not for the "illustrado" class only; it is a tax-supported institution and its halls are open to the poor and rich alike.

With respect to the charge that those waging a campaign for a larger university support are malcontents with fat professorships and kindred jobs in view, I want to say that there is no provision at all for increased salaries for the faculty in the P18,000,000 bill passed by the legislature which Governor Wood has vetoed. Dean Kalaw who is one of the leading figures in the fight for a more expanded University is a wealthy man and does not need to resort to political agitation in order to improve his living. He can find a much more remunerative employment outside the University but he is giving his services and his intellect to the institution because in that way he believes he can be of the greatest help to the young manhood and womanhood of his country.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor for the publication of this letter, I am,

NARCISO RAMOS,

[Member of the Philippine Delegation to the Peking Student Conference, Staff Correspondent of the Philippines Herald, Editor of the Varsity News, official student newspaper of the University of the Philippines.]

KING CHARLES' DEATH

Editor: THE CHINA PRESS.

Dear Sir: With reference to your note on the death of King Charles of Hungary may I be permitted to point out to you, that he was not, as stated by you 57 years of age, but barely 38. He was a son of the Archduke Otto and a nephew of the Archduke Ferdinand, whose murder in Sarajevo in July 1914 was a prime factor leading to the outbreak of the Great War.

In stating that his late Majesty renounced the throne, you are again mistaken. He held his rights as a Ruler sacred and never abdicated. That his two attempts to regain his throne failed is true enough, but the failures were not due to the lack of support by far the greater majority of the Hungarian people, but to the fact that we Hungarians were denied the rights to decide for ourselves in the first instance, and that the Bethlen Government was bluffed by the Little Entente into taking up arms against the legitimate and crowned King, in the second. If any evidence were necessary that "self-determination of the small peoples" is a pure myth, the way Hungary was treated in the matter of deciding who should rule the country would certainly provide sufficient proof, that "self-determination" was only put into force where it suited the purpose of the victorious nations.

To speculate on who will be the next King of Hungary is futile. The Archduke Otto, eldest son of the late King, is the rightful and legitimate heir; in as much as the wheel of things always turns and never stops, loyal Hungarians have the right to hope, that some day, perhaps in the not too distant future, the present uncrowned King of Hungary will place the Crown of St. Stephen on his anointed head in Budapest, once more the Capital of a United Hungary. I am, Sir, Yours faithfully,

P. K.

Shanghai, April 3, 1922.

RUDE FOREIGNER

Editor: THE CHINA PRESS.

Sir: I would like to have your readers give an impartial judgment to the action of a certain foreign gentleman in a tram car yesterday. This man boarded the car with a woman near the Garden Bridge, on which I was riding with my wife. It was then quite crowded. It happened that a young Chinese man sitting diagonally opposite us gave his seat up to this woman probably after some hesitation on his part.

However, before any passenger had any idea of what was happening, we saw that this foreign gentleman was pointing both his fists menacingly on this Chinese's nose and pouring out vile language. On witnessing this episode and feeling that his actions were entirely unjustifiable, I questioned this foreign gentleman in English, "what was the trouble?" Dropping his victim there, he immediately came towards me with his fists; my wife almost fainted. If not for the intervening words of the woman accompanying him, and my wife, there would probably be an unpleasant case in the Mixed Court today with this man claiming that the Chinese assaulted him.

Now the questions I want to put before the public are: Are the foreigners entitled to treat Chinese like that and on what ground? Is might right? China as a nation may be weak at present but I believe that individually the Chinese have just as much right as do the foreigners. What makes some of the foreign residents here so rude and uncivilised? Are the actions of those rude persons an advantage commercially to the countries to which they belong? I am, yours respectfully,

P. H. H.

Blazing Marvels In The Sky

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS
Famous Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Subjects of Popular Interest.

I recently received from Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. King, of Shoals, Ind., the following letter, the connection of which with another description of an equally wonderful phenomenon of the same kind, seen in another part of the world, not very far from the same time, will become evident as we go on:

"On the night of February 10," says the letter of Mr. King, "at about 11:30 o'clock, my wife and I were eye witnesses of a falling meteor in the western sky, which started not far from the moon and traveled in a northwesterly direction. Although the moon was full and shining brightly, the light from this meteor was so much brighter that it drew our attention, and we were very much surprised to see a ball of fire almost as large as the moon speeding toward the earth, when it suddenly exploded, and disappeared in a streak of flame. Did any one else see it?"

On the same day that I received this letter I read in a New York newspaper an account by Second Officer Frank C. Blessing, of the steamer Vauban, just in from South American ports, of a great fireball which he had seen at 9:30 p.m., February 11, off the coast of Brazil. He was in charge on the bridge when "he saw a huge ball of fire rise above the horizon in the west and describe a low arc ahead of the ship and disappear below the eastern horizon."

The account went on to say that the ball of fire was as large as the full moon and surrounded with a gleaming halo, that it was about ten degrees above the horizon, and, travelling at great speed, remained in sight three minutes and twenty seconds."

Mr. Blessing was also quoted as saying: "The ball was very fiery and a brilliant red with a tail and a long fiery trail which lit up the sea in all directions. The ship and for a quarter of a mile around, was lit up like day, and the light was so brilliant that it dimmed the lamp in the binnacle and the smoking-room lights, which caused passengers inside to rush out on deck to see what was the matter.

"I was scared at the strange sight, because I thought that it had something to do with the end of the world. It was too large for a meteor and came up from the horizon on the west and did not drop from the zenith. I could not estimate how far it was from the ship when it passed across the bows.

"I called the captain to see it, but by the time he reached the bridge it had disappeared. I cannot imagine what it could have been, and the astronomers attached to the observatories could not explain it to me."

The observatories referred to are those of Buenos Ayres and Rio Janeiro, where the ship touched after the fireball was seen. But there must be a mistake about the astronomers being unable to explain the phenomenon. What was seen was, of course, simply a very remarkable meteorite or bolide.

The fact that it did not descend "from the zenith," but ran along a short distance above the horizon from west toward east, was nothing surprising. Meteorites strike into the earth's atmosphere in all sorts of directions and sometimes actually seem to pass out again after a swift dip, but this may be a deception.

The question might naturally be asked whether the meteorite seen in Indiana and the one seen off the South American coast could have been the same phenomenon. Of course, this could not have been the case unless their dates and hours of appearance were nearly simultaneous. Now, one was seen at 11:30, February 10, the other at 9:30 February 11.

Since both observers appear to have fixed the date accurately, the difference of time arising from their difference of longitude would not suffice to make the two phenomena simultaneous. Besides there is wide discrepancy in the directions pursued by the two objects, and this could not be reconciled by reference to the fact that, one observer was far north and the other far south of the equator, so, that, the meteorite being in the sky between them, one would see it moving from right to left when the other saw it moving from left to right. But both observers referred the movement to the west and east horizons and west and east are the same in both hemispheres.

One saw the object moving in "a northwesterly direction," while to the other it appeared to rise from the west horizon, skirt along ten degrees above the horizon in the northward, and disappear to the eastward. To be sure it might have changed its course between the times of the two observations, provided that the dates were identical.

But, even if there were simply an error in one or the other of the descriptions as to time and direction, the distance apart of the observers, about 75 degrees of a great circle, would preclude the possibility of its having been the same object that both saw. Such an object, if it just skirted the horizon, for both observers, would have had to be elevated about a thousand miles, and no meteorites are ever seen above about 100 miles elevation.

We must conclude, then, that two extraordinary fireballs appeared on two successive evenings to observers one of whom was in the northern hemisphere and the other in the southern. It has been suspected that these strange bodies sometimes come as if in scattered flocks, and the suspicion is strengthened by these recent occurences.

Shanghai Klebang Rubber Estates, Ltd.

The seventh annual general meeting of the Shanghai Klebang Rubber Estates, Limited, was held yesterday afternoon in the offices of the secretaries, Messrs. A. S. Wattie and Co.

The Chairman remarked that further reductions in the cost were effected during the year, and despite the rigid control exercised the loss on the year's trading was Tls. 5,966.

Mr. F. J. Burrett, who presided, said:

The plantation industry, hard hit in 1920, was still more depressed by a further slump last year, and though towards the end of 1921 and early this year, a rise in the price of rubber took place, this apparently was only sentimental, induced by rumors of compulsory restriction; consequently the rise was of short duration and once again the selling price is at such a figure that very few Companies are able to produce at a profit.

During these particular times I am a great believer in restriction whether it be compulsory or voluntary, and if it were possible I would advocate ceasing production for it seems poor business spending bark capital only to incur a loss. Nevertheless our finances are not strong enough to permit us to close down for a time; overhead charges continue whether tapping is proceeding or not and we are forced to tap to help pay these charges.

Our all-in cost of production was reduced from 14.82 pence for 1920 to 11.36 pence for 1921. Rigid economy was exercised, judging by all reports, without any prejudicial effects to the estate, and I think our Manager, Mr. Strettel and our Penang Agents, Messrs. Barker & Co., Ltd., deserve our thanks for the excellent way they have managed the Company's affairs through a time of adversity; and I feel confident that such further difficulties as arise will be surmounted.

Estate reports tell us that the mature area is perfectly clean and that a cover of Passion Flower is firmly established in the non-producing area. This cover plant is said to keep down weeds and conserve the top soil.

The property is practically free from disease and the tapping is said to be of a high standard, while bark renewal is good.

Trees to the number of 1,922 were thinned out during the year and the stand per acre is now at that point when further thinning out will be by selection.

Labor was adequate but wages are in a sensitive condition; any definite rise in the price of rubber is sure to be followed by a demand for increased wages. The outlook for labor in the F. M. S. is disturbing; more coolies going home than are recruited, indicating a shortage when rubber becomes a paying proposition and full tapping is resumed.

We restricted our crop by not producing scrap grades, by resting part of the estate and by alternate day tapping 112 acres on the quarter cut, therefore I consider this Company has done its share towards furthering the scheme of restriction.

The Manager hopes to effect further reduction in his costs for the current year which I am sure will be appreciated.

You may be pleased to learn that we have sold forward 2 tons per month Jan. and June at 43 cents per lb. F. O. B.

Turning to the accounts you will see these fully bear out my remarks on economy. Capital expenditure is practically nil, and a glance at the working accounts shows how rigid control has been. Despite all this effort the loss on the year amounts to Tls. 5,966.50 which, deducted from the amount brought forward from last account, leaves a credit balance in Profit and Loss Account of Tls. 8,216.78 which the Directors recommend be carried forward.

The average rate of exchange for the year, at which conversion of Straits currency into Taels was made, was 65; while the closing rate for rubber in Stock was 67 against 38¾ and 55½ for 1920.

The liquid assets of the Company exceed the liabilities by about Tls. 9,000.—and I hope this may suffice to see the Company through to better times.

The adoption of the report and accounts was proposed by the Chairman and duly seconded by Mr. C. J. L. Steward and passed.

Mr. C. J. L. Steward was re-elected a Director of the Company. Messrs. Lowe, Bingham and Matthews were re-elected auditors for the ensuing year at a remuneration of Tls. 300.

KINGMAN & BROS.
How to Preserve the Teeth

In order to keep the teeth in a good condition scientific precaution must be taken. Through negligence, decay and numerous other affections such as tooth-ache, dental periostitis, esteo-periostitis, necrosis of the jaw, etc., may arise. During the process of ingestion, there are settled on the teeth some deposits of mineral and organic matters, called tartar, which possesses a morbid power of pressing the gum. As an inevitable result of the presence of this tartar, the teeth will become elongated and movable and will, by degrees, absorb away the enamel, leading ultimately to the decay and degeneration of the teeth. The tartar is so hard and resistant to the process of brushing that it cannot be scraped off except with dental instruments specially devised for that purpose.

Dr. KINGMAN offers to the public his service for preserving their teeth at an annual subscription Fee of $10.00 per head to be paid in advance.

The work to be done by Dr. KINGMAN to the subscribers consist in:—
(1) Cleaning of the teeth quarterly.
(2) Filling with gold platinum alloy only, when the teeth present holes.
(3) Inspecting the teeth at any time at the desire of the subscribers.

(Special To The China Press)

Paris, April 3.—The Chamber of Deputies, while engaging in discussion on the foreign policy of France, today passed a vote of confidence in the Government, 184 to 78.

Anti-Christians In Peking Urged To Cease Activities

(Chung Mei News Agency)

Peking, April 2.—The Chinese intellectuals have shown their disapproval of the Anti-Christian Student Federation and issued a manifesto yesterday condemning its activities. The manifesto is signed by Chow Tson-jen, Chien Yuan-tung, Shen Chien-shih, Shen Shih-yuan, and Ma Yu-chao who have figured variously in the new intellectual and literary revolution of China. The Chen Pao, the principle organ of the Anti-Christian movement answers the protests of the intellectuals for religious freedom by stating that notwithstanding, "it is our conviction that no matter what religion is introduced into China, it will do harm rather than good."

The manifesto issued in disapproval of the Anti-Christian Students movement is as follows:

"We do not believe in nor support any religion, but we are opposed to any movement calculated to bring religion into discredit. We hold that every person should have absolute freedom in the choice of his religions beliefs and that no one should interfere with this freedom. Subject to such limitations as the law may impose freedom of worship is stipulated in the Provisional Constitution.

"The intellectual class should be the first to respect this stipulation; if not, they should at least be not the first to violate it. We therefore express our disapproval of the movement of the Non-Christian Student Federation."

The Peking Express, the newspaper having the largest circulation among Chinese students, endorses this sentiment and states:

"For our part we cannot but highly commend these men for their courage of convictions. If we are not mistaken, this is the first time that Chinese intellectuals have taken a stand upon a public question different from that of the yellow press and radical students. It is an encouraging sign for it shows that the Chinese intellectuals begin to learn to think for themselves, instead of blindly endorsing the views of some ultra modernists."

PEKING TRAMWAYS

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, April 1.—The Peking Tramway Company announces hat it has received 37 tenders from Chinese and foreign firms in China in answer to the invitation published by the company for bids on supplies, tramway building materials, etc. These tenders are now under consideration by the board of directors. Work will not be started on the tramway line until August.

AVIATOR KILLED

(Reuter's Service)
